The Pennsylvania Saddlebred Horse Association (PSHA) is a registered charter club of the American Saddlebred Horse Association. PSHA was established in the early 80's and is proud to have members in multiple states. We are honored to have been named ASHA's Charter Club of the Year in 2005.

The American Saddlebred is the ultimate show horse as well as a truly enjoyable pleasure mount. They are a spectacle of beauty and grace with their high-stepping and elegant movement. American Saddlebreds possess that people-oriented quality known as personality, endearing them to their owners and admirers. Their conformation makes them very comfortable to ride and their animation, speed, intelligence and powerful muscling make them very exciting. The versatile Saddlebred has excelled in many non-traditional disciplines such as dressage, eventing, show jumping, combined driving and endurance, as well as recreational and competitive trail riding.

Our mission is to promote this incredible breed at the local level. We sponsor classes at many regional horse shows, participate in regional expositions and manage the Keystone Classic Horse Show at the scenic Quentin Riding Club.

PSHA hopes you will join us in promoting the horse America made-- the American Saddlebred!

THE PENNSYLVANIA SADDLEBRED HORSE ASSOCIATION

INVITES YOU TO JOIN US IN THE YEAR 2013!

The Pennsylvania Saddlebred Horse Association (PSHA) is a registered charter club of the American Saddlebred Horse Association (ASHA), so PSHA members enjoy a reduced membership fee with ASHA.

PSHA members are eligible to compete for annual high point awards in 26 categories, plus a separate academy division. Award winners are honored at PSHA's annual awards banquet.

PSHA promotes Saddlebreds and interest in saddle seat riding. PSHA sponsors equitation classes, exhibitors' parties, and the Keystone Classic, where new exhibitors can start showing (and experienced exhibitors can warm up for the show season!)

To learn more about PSHA, visit us on the web at:
www.pa-saddlebred.com or follow us on FaceBook.

PSHA hopes you will join us in promoting the Saddlebred!
